

DOTTORE LONDON

CORPORATE

HEALTH SCREENINGS

Dottore London's health screening is only delivered by specialists related to the prevention of major health complications such as cardiovascular disease and cancer.

HEALTH SCREENINGS

Health screenings are important as they can detect disease early in people who do not show any signs and/or symptoms of illness or disease.

This is particularly important in the workplace, where inadequate health screenings of employees can lead to absenteeism and create an impact on business productivity.

Furthermore, supporting your employees with a company health screen is key to promoting positive health and well-being within the workplace.

This is why Dottore London has created a department dedicated to health checks for corporates, as screening is a critical tool that can improve productivity and save lives.

Our health assessments can be tailored to the organisation's needs – with solutions available for an entire workforce, or a bespoke offering for smaller or more specialised groups of employees.

WHY CHOOSE DOTTORE LONDON

Dottore London's health screening is only delivered by specialists related to the prevention of major health complications such as cardiovascular disease and cancer.

We provide comprehensive health screening, assessing all aspects of lifestyle and well-being. We can run our health checks either on a company's premises or at our facilities located in Central or South West London.

The main output of Dottore London's health screenings will be a personalised snapshot, in digital format, of an employee's current state of health.

We are also committed to offering guidance on how to minimise risks and improve the employees' overall well-being.
